THE ADDIS CLINIC
2022 | Q3 IMPACT REPORT

Building local healthcare capacity through scalable solutions that expand medical access in the world's most challenging settings.

The third quarter is always difficult for The Addis Clinic from a fundraising perspective. We get it. Most families are spending time on summer vacations and getting back into the rhythms of school. Turmoil and uncertainty in the financial markets, the Federal Reserve raising rates, and the upcoming elections created an environment where we had to tighten our belts a little bit more this third quarter.

Over the last few years, however, we have grown significantly. We have increased the size of our budget, board, and staff. Most importantly, we have increased the number of people we help and heal daily.

80,000 people have daily access to telemedicine through their local provider

2,000 people have daily text messages to help them with their HIV treatment plan

9,600+ people have an embedded clinical officers visiting a refugee camp or orphanage daily

Despite the dip in fundraising activity over the last three months, we have continued to serve patients at the last mile. We're entering the end of the year with all of the past year's success stories to fuel our best fundraising performance ever.

As you read the stories from the field, we hope you'll plan ahead for one of two things. On Giving Tuesday, November 29th, double your annual contribution or go ahead and sign up for a monthly contribution so that we have steady revenue to keep our team and partners focused on our mission - ensuring that everyone, everywhere has access to high quality healthcare.

"FOR THE PATIENTS WE SEE,
OUR MOBILE CLINICS
REPRESENT A BETTER FUTURE."

Over the last year, our mobile clinics in coastal Kenya have supported more than 2,600 women and children in communities throughout the coast of Kenya.

For many of the underserved persons we serve, this is the first time they've been able to speak to a healthcare worker in a safe and confidential setting.

With a focus on empowering women and girls, the health services we provide allow these populations to reclaim autonomy over their bodies.

For the patients we see, our mobile clinics represent a better future."

"In the midst of one of the most devastating climate crises in Somalia's history, entire families are being displaced by conflict and horrific climate conditions.

Our mobile health clinics are providing an irreplaceable service to Somalis who have nowhere else to turn. This work is not only important— it's essential.

Patients in Somalia

As devastating droughts and rising food insecurity threaten Somalia, more than 3 million people have been displaced in the East African nation.

Our Somali mobile health teams are reporting cases of severe malnutrition and dehydration, highlighting the need for rapid and responsive healthcare for these vulnerable populations. As the crisis in Somalia worsens, we renew our commitment to providing lifesaving health services to people in the most need.

Reducing HIV Incidence and Stigma

More than 1.5M people in Kenya live with HIV. With the support of our in-country partners, we've deployed a multi-regional messaging program that provides safe and confidential HIV education, medication reminders, and provide community resources for people living with HIV.
